Scholarships are based partly on economic need and partly on essay or illustration submitted by applicant. Essay topic is "Why I want to be a part of Kindred Art and Folk Institute." Applications may be submitted in person or via email to nmartin@kindredtruckee.org Attn. Nicole (subject line "Scholarship Application").

Kindred Art and Folk Institute staff members make every effort to conduct safe programs, to orient and support children, and to inform families of inherent risks. Some activities may involve risks that children do not routinely encounter at home. Risk management is an essential element of all the activities offered. While we anticipate that these efforts will ensure the wellbeing of each child, we are also aware that it is neither possible to foresee every contingency nor to eliminate all risk. I understand and certify that my child's participation in the Kindred Art and Folk Institute activities are completely voluntary, and that I have become familiar with the sessions in which my child may participate, as described.
